Nothing Sensational Marks the Advent of Another Week.—Notes of General Interest.

The School Board Presidency.—Democratic Cauucs.—Police and Constabulary News.—Other Matters of Minor Import.

SCHOOL BOARD PRESIDENCY.

There promises to be an interesting contest in the board of education over the presidency when the time for electing a successor to Dr. James Lang arrives.

This election is to be held next month, and the friends of Trustee C. M. Leake, immediately after it became known that Dr. Lang would retire by virtue of his having been elected mayor, tipped him as a probable successor.

Dr. J. T. Reddick, however, has many friends in the board who desire to see him president, and it now seems probable that either Mr. Leake or Dr. Reddick will be the next president. Mr. Leake has been in the board since the death of the late President Ballard a couple of years ago, and Dr. Reddick has served one term as a member a couple of years ago. Hence each gentleman has experience, and each has followers both in the board and out.

THE COUNCIL CAUCUS.

The caucus of the Democratic council-elect will be held next Wednesday, probably in the council chamber. It will likely be private. All applications must be in Wednesday at noon.

In the appointment of police officers considerable interest is being taken, and the caucus will have nothing to do with this, as the appointments are made by the mayor. The latter is to have a good police force, too. He is going to have the best men procurable, and in selecting them will advise with those competent to pass on a man's qualifications, which he stated himself, in reply to a question addressed by a reporter yesterday.

ONE OF OUR COMMON EVILS.

Some idea of the cost to taxpayers of misdemeanor cases against disreputable people may be drawn from the experience of Ida Elder, colored, who was released from jail yesterday. Several months ago she had George Weakly, colored, who was recently shot while attempting to escape from Constable Patton, arrested for rape. The case resulted into one of simple immorality when an investigation was made, and they were both indicted for it. Weakly served his fine and was released, but the woman eluded the officers until last September. She was committed to jail just before court convened the first part of September, and as the case did not go to trial because it was not reached before adjournment, she remained in jail. A short time since she was tried before County Judge Tully and fined. The result is, her little case of immorality has cost the taxpayers about $10, and it was all wasted, because confinement in jail has no effect on such characters or on the moral atmosphere of the community.

THE WOODMEN CELEBRATE.

The twice postponed unveiling ceremonies of monuments erected at Oak Grove over deceased members of the Woodmen of the World, took place yesterday afternoon at the cemetery, and were witnessed by a large crowd. The ceremonies were very impressive and the program rendered was in keeping with the rites observed. Monuments were unveiled at the graves of Messrs. Arthur Pell and Ben Argus in the cemetery.

QUAIL HUNTERS OUT.

The Kentucky game law expired today, and quail hunters almost without number left the city with their guns and dogs for the neighboring tracts in quest of Bob White, many to return well laden with spoils at nightfall.

Paducah hunters are always fortunate, however, as they can hunt birds in both Tennessee and Illinois long before the Kentucky law is out, the laws in the two states mentioned above expiring before ours.

MEDICAL CONVENTION.

The state convention of the eclectic medical association convenes here tomorrow and a large number of prominent doctors from all over the State are expected. The meeting will be held in Elks Hall, Opera House block, and the program, already published, is in full a most attractive one. In the evening an entertainment will be given consisting of reading by Prof. Lloyd, of Cincinnati, and musical selections.

TAKEN TO HOPKINSVILLE.

Jane Jones, who one week ago today was standing guard over her dead daughter, was yesterday carried to Hopkinsville by Constable Patton and lodged in the Asylum. She would not permit the burial of the woman until undertaker Nance carried a police officer with him. Relatives took charge of her after she was adjudged insane, but she was too much for them, and they gave her up.

ARRESTED ON A CAPIAS.

Sardy Moss, the well known Mechanicsburg engineer, was arrested this morning by Constable Patton on a capias from Justice Barnett's court, on a fine of some standing for $11 for disorderly conduct. The prisoner being unable to execute bond for the amount, was committed to jail.

SHORT IN ELECTION RETURNS.

A Courier-Journal special from Frankfort announces among counties, that Livingston county has not forwarded the result of the vote on the constitutional amendment, although the remainder of the vote from that county is in. The returns of the vote in the circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney's races from Lyon and Marshall counties were not sent in with the remainder of the vote.

BURGARS IN BROOKLYN.

The police here are in receipt of a description of goods stolen at Brooklyn Saturday night. Burglars entered Warren's boarding house and stole two watches belonging to a man named Asher. Lee Bushy's residence and that of Henry Meyers were also entered, but nothing of value was secured.

A TELEGRAPH INNOVATION.

The first female telegraph operator who ever held a position in Paducah is Miss Nettie Craynor, a young Blue Grass belle, who has accepted a desk at the Illinois Central dispatcher's office, and begins work tomorrow. Miss Craynor is an expert manipulator of the chained lightning, and comes from Lexington, Ky. Although there are many lady operators in other places, she is the first one to become a member of the Paducah corps of telegraphers.

A STRANDED BARGE.

Capt. Bart E. Linehan, of the Linehan Transfer Company, Dubuque, Ia., and Mr. J. M. Barkley, of Natchez, Miss., Superintendent of the New Orleans and North-eastern Railroad, arrived in the city yesterday and went up the Ohio to look after the big transfer barge built at Leavenworth, Ind., which has been stranded at Caseyville for the past five weeks. The barge was enroute to Natchez, and as the river is rising, hopes are entertained of getting her off.

NEW OFFICERS SWORN IN.

U. S. Commissioner J. R. Puryear today swore in Mr. Walter Mercer, the new fireman at the government building, and H. B. Davis, colored, the new janitor. The appointment of a night watchman has not been made, but Mr. Frank Dunn will get the place.

THE ASHLAND CITY LEAVES.

The Ashland City today left for Yazoo City in charge of Pilot Chas. Nichols. She was purchased from President Robt. Hornbrook, of the Tennessee River Co. for $5,000 by W. D. Pugh, of the Yazoo City Transportation Co., to be run between Yazoo City and Natchez. Capt. Douglas Jones, formerly Captain on the boat, has bought the P. D. Stagg, now at Danville, it is reported, and will run her in the same trade. Pilot Will Smith will likely go on the Joseph Henry, now at Cairo, which runs between Cairo and New Orleans.

A HOTEL REMOVED.

It is reported that Mr. C. E. Gridley, former proprietor of the New City Steam Laundry, will shortly assume the management of the Hotel Gilberto.

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT.

The city council meets tonight in regular session—the last meeting of that body—and the session will no doubt be a long one, as the business of the council will be concluded and preparations made for swearing in the new council the first Monday in next month.

A SECOND STREET ROW.

D. J. Levy, the Second street merchant, today swore out a warrant against David Cook, charging the latter with calling him "a d—d thief," and Cook swore out a warrant against Levy, charging him with calling him a d—d bum. The case will be ventilated in Judge Sander's court tomorrow.

LAUNDRY CHANGES HANDS.

Mr. E. C. Clark, of Fairfield, Ky., today became proprietor of the New City Steam Laundry, established here about four years ago by Mr. C. E. Gridley. Mr. Clark arrived yesterday and took immediate charge. Mr. Gridley will occupy his residence, on North Sixth street, formerly the Van De Male property, and will remain in Paducah.

OFF FOR CONFERENCE.

Revs. H. B. Johnson, Barton and Ward left today for Trenton, Tenn., to attend the annual Memphis conference of the M. E. Church. Their years were up yesterday, and all have done an excellent work. It is thought they will be returned to Paducah.

TWELVE TEMPTATIONS HERE.

The Twelve Temptations Company arrived at noon from Evansville in two special coaches over the Illinois Central. There are about 50 people in the troupe, and the entertainment is better and newer than usual.

OFF FOR TEXAS.

Rev. J. Reese, wife and three children and two young men, all from Marshall county, left at noon today for Texas, where they will settle on a tract of land, and become permanent residents of the Lone Star State. They were accompanied to the Union depot by quite a crowd of friends and relatives, and tears were shed by both the preacher and his crowd, and those who had gone to see him off.

THE SEWERAGE WORK.

The sewerage excavations are advancing but no pipe is at present being laid. Some difficulty is being encountered in keeping the pipe water out of the tunnels while the pipes are being put in.

DID HIM AN INJUSTICE.

Mr. W. E. McFarland, of 1235 Monroe street, states that the Register did him an injustice yesterday in stating that he was drinking and after a colored woman when assaulted by a colored man. He claims he was attacked by three men, and that he is a law abiding and respected citizen, and the misrepresentations in the paper were without justification.

WINSTON'S LAST WEEK.

"Devil" Winston entered on his last week of earthly existence yesterday with prayer and thanksgiving. He was visited at the jail yesterday by several ministers of the gospel, as well as other Christian people. He continues in good spirits, and bids fair to mount the gallows with the firm and undaunted demeanor that has continuously characterized him since his conviction.

MARRIED IN ARKANSAS.

Mr. W. P. Hill and Miss Cora Hooks, of White county, Ark., were married last week, and will arrive in the city tomorrow enroute to Mr. Hill's old home near Sharpe, Marshall county, on a visit. The groom is a brother of Mr. Sam A. Hill, of the Sun.

REVIVAL IN THE COUNTRY.

Rev. Tom Pettit, of Harpoot, church, in the Baldry neighborhood, is conducting a successful revival at the above named church, ably assisted by Rev. L. B. Duncan, formerly pastor of the Second Baptist church, this city.

Scared.—Other Telegraphic News.

New York, Nov. 15.—United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, is moving to this city. It is said that he is planning to become a candidate for the presidency in 1900, and that by this means he hopes to have the backing of New York state.

A BRAVE WOMAN.
Shot an Unknown Man Trying to Enter Her Room.

Danville, Ky., Nov. 15.—Mrs. James Wilcox, a well known lady of this town, last night shot and mortally wounded an unknown man who was trying to enter her room.

A SCARED BANKER.
President Weathers, of English, Ind., Fearful for His Life.

English, Ind., Nov. 15.—John H. Weathers, president of the banks of this city, Leavenworth and Marengo, which failed Saturday, has left home and is afraid to return. The popular excitement is high.

STATION AGENT KILLED.

Terrible Fate of Agent James
Fawcett at Fowles, Tenn.,
Yesterday.—Struck
By a Train.

River Front Extension Work Resumed.—Pay Train Due
Next Thursday.—Other
Railroad News.

James Fawcett, Illinois Central station agent at Fowles, Tenn., 400 miles below Paducah, was struck by engine No. 380, on train No. 2, yesterday forenoon about 10 o'clock and instantly killed.

He had started to cross the track in front of the rapidly approaching train, but was not quick enough. It is said that he was very careless about jumping on and off trains and passing in front of them, and was warned only a few days ago by a railroad man from Paducah that he would sooner or later get killed by a train.

The deceased was a man known to every railroad man running south on the I. C.

Work was begun on the river front extension of the Illinois Central again, being resumed at Washington street.—It will soon be completed.

The pay train will pass through Paducah on the 18th, next Thursday, and will probably pay off at least a part of the Illinois Central employees on that day. It will pass through again, going south, on the 23d.

Beginning today all trains on the I. C. are rated by gross tonnage instead of by the load. The rate for all trains in this district is as follows:

PADUCAH DISTRICT.
19-inch Cook, Nos. 346 and 351, 625 tons.
19-inch Schenectady, Nos. 361 and 370, 675 tons.
19-inch Brooks, Nos. 516 and 518, 625 tons.
18-inch Schenectady, Nos. 288 and 300 class, 520 tons.

DIED OF HER INJURIES.

Miss Ruby Neal's Death This Morning.

Fell Down the Stairs of the Sixth
School Last Week.

Miss Ruby Neal, the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. Cad Neal, of the South Side, died this morning from injuries received last Friday at the 6th street school house. She was playing near the basement when she fell a distance of six feet or more to a brick floor, and was picked up unconscious. It proved that she was internally injured, and she passed away this forenoon. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

OLD CITIZEN GONE.

Death of Capt. James Mortimer
Saturday.

Captain James O. Mortimer, an old and respected citizen of Paducah, died at his residence on Second street at 8 o'clock p. m. of brights disease. He had been a great sufferer for several months previous to his confinement, but being a man of undaunted courage and energy, he succeeded in staying on his feet until Nov. 1st, when he succumbed to his afflictions, and became a confirmed invalid.

Mr. Mortimer had been a member of the First Baptist Church for a number of years and was a devoted christian gentleman. He was also a member of the Farragut Association of Naval Veterans, of Philadelphia.

He was born in Hopkinsville, Ky., on the 10th day of November 1826, and was seventy one years of age. He came to this city some time in the fifties, and followed the avocation of a pilot on the various rivers. During the late rebellion he served as pilot on the gun boats and transports. He was in several engagements at Shiloh and other places having served through the entire war.

Mr. Mortimer leaves a wife and three children, a son and two daughters. Also two sisters, one of whom resides in Schuylago, California, and the other in Pleasant Hill, Mo.

He was a kind, free hearted gentleman and was always ready to assist anyone in distress, when in his power to do so. He enjoyed the good will and highest esteem of all who knew him.

SANCHEZ CONVICTED.

The Speedy Trial of This Foul
Murderer Finished at Denver Saturday.—His Unique Plea.

Sanchez Claimed to Have Killed
His Wife, Formerly Jennie Warren, of This City. While He Was Asleep.

Fred C. Sanchez, charged with the murder of his wife, Jennie Warren Sanchez, formerly of Paducah, was convicted of murder in the first degree at Denver, Colorado, Saturday, after the jury had been out twenty-four hours.

A Globe-Democrat special yesterday says: "The jury in the case of Frederick C. Sanchez, who killed his wife in the Colorado House in this city October 30th, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree today. Sanchez's defense was that he shot his wife while in a nightmare, imagining a robber had entered his room. Her life was insured for $11,000. The case was remarkable because of the scientific evidence introduced to support the plea that Sanchez could not shoot his wife while suffering from somnambulism."

A Saturday's special to the Globe-Democrat gives the following additional interesting facts concerning the case: "For the first time in the history of the country the theory of somnambulism has been offered as the sole plea in defense of a man charged with murder. F. C. Sanchez killed his wife last week. He told the officer who arrested him two minutes after the crime, that he had been disturbed by a burglar who had entered their room, and who had killed the woman sleeping at his side. Next day he confessed that he had done the shooting and ascribed the fatality to accident. He demanded a speedy trial and was granted it."

His attorney startled the court by pleading not guilty and offering the defense that the shooting was done while the defendant was asleep. He claimed that the prisoner labored under the impression that he had been held up on the street the night before and that the robbers had come to his room. Under this belief, he started in his sleep, and taking a revolver from under his pillow, fired at the supposed intruders and killed his wife.

Dr. H. T. Pershing, for the state, controverted many of the statements of the defense by testifying that it was possible but not probable that a person could fire two shots without waking him up.

The defense also contended that epileptic subjects were frequently in a homicidal state when awakened from somnambulism. A person, on waking up after doing a violent deed, always felt remorse. Such individuals would frequently follow a phantom for blocks at a time. This was cited to show a reason for Sanchez's action in running from his room on the morning of the murder, crying: "He has killed my wife."

The verdict of the jury was no surprise. As the prisoner's father has plenty of money, however, this trial will in all probability not end the case.

Readers of the Sun are familiar with how the young girl made the acquaintance of her murderous husband through a pernicious matrimonial agency, ran away to Metropolis and there married him. Of how she was slain while sleeping, and sent back to relatives a corpse. Of how, ere the victim had been in her grave a week litigation began here over a few hundred dollars insurance on her life.

The mound of earth at Oak Grove now offers a ghastly fascination for sight-seers, especially on the Sabbath, and whenever there is a crowd there, the sod that marks the last resting place of the murdered bride is not the least attractive spot in the cemetery. Meanwhile the treacherous fiend who is responsible for it all occupies a prison-cell in far away Denver, free from remorse because he committed the deed while asleep!

MONDAY, NOV. 15, 1897.

With two Republican Senators and a Republican delegation in the House, the old state of Maryland will not be able to recognize herself in the political mirror.

The farmers of Ohio, Iowa, Maryland, Kansas and South Dakota showed by their votes in the recent election that free silver has no more charms for them.

This balance in favor of the United States in its trade with England was greater last year than at any time previous during the last fifteen years, if not than any previous year.

Still the Republican strength in the South continues to grow, and the latest and most notable addition to the list is the prospective successor of Arthur P. Gorman in the Senate of the United States.

The receipts under the Dingley law continue to increase month by month, and it seems likely that the prediction that it will meet all running expenses of the Government after January will prove true.

OCTOBER showed a less number of failures than almost any month in the past four years, despite Mr. Bryan's recent assertion that the first six months of McKinleyism were the most disastrous in the history of the country.

It is real mean in the financial newspapers to go on saying that October was the best business month in four years, when Mr. Bryan was just saying that the first six months of McKinleyism were the worst the country had ever seen.

THE 55th Congress had a larger number of Republicans from the South than was ever before elected to any Congress from that section. And now the 56th Congress is to have an addition to the Southern Republican strength by another Republican Senator from Maryland.

SENATOR HANNA, it is understood, has only one regret regarding the Ohio campaign, and that is that Mr. Bryan did not make more speeches. The Republicans gained an average of nearly a hundred votes to the county in their majorities where Mr. Bryan went.

THE circulation of the country is, in round numbers, $80,000,000 greater than it was one year ago. Yet the country didn't get free coinage, and Bryan said that the only way to increase the circulation medium of the country was by the adoption of free silver. An error in judgment.

THE talk of co-operation of a few Ohio Republicans with the McLean Democrats of that State in the approaching Senatorial election is pronounced by Ohio men of both parties, the merest "moonshine." It would be political suicide for any man who would undertake it or attempt to profit by it.

WITH ex-Governor Altgeld organizing a paper-money party, ex-Governor Bries denouncing the 16-to-1 proposition, Senator Stewart telling the people that they may as well fall in with prosperity and drop the silver issue, it looks as though the white metal would have few friends left by 1900.

WITH Arthur Pue Gorman beaten, Mark Hanna as good as re-elected, Republican gains in Kansas, free silver again repudiated in Ohio, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New York, the Democrat who can extract comfort from the result of this year's elections must be a veritable political Mark Tapley.

The people of New Orleans estimate that the damage done to the business of the city by the yellow fever this year has been fully $250,000. That is a large sum, and yet it is not improbable that the loss to New Orleans was that amount. The terrible scourge did not reach this city, yet it is well to consider what might have been the damage to the business of this city had it broken out here. As long as yellow fever visits the lower Mississippi cities just so long is there a possibility that this city also may become infected. Experience has demonstrated that there is but one effectual preventative and that is in cleanliness and a thorough system of sanitation. Such a system, Paducah lacks to a most lamentable degree. The becoming epidemic in this city of any contagious disease such as yellow fever, typhoid or any other malignant fever would show in a terrible way the need that this city has of better sanitation. It is in the light of such facts as these that our citizens must consider the sewerage system. The time will come when the present opponents of the sewerage system will congratulate themselves that Paducah had one council that had the nerve to do what was right, even at the risk of becoming unpopular.

A DOWNTOWN DEPOT.
Rumor has it that the Illinois Central is contemplating the construction of a new and enlarged freight depot near the Union Depot. Whether or not the rumor be correct it is quite probable that the railroad company will build such a depot somewhere and approximately in the near future. The Sun arrogates to itself no desire to dictate to a great railroad system what it shall do; but in behalf of the business men of Paducah we make a suggestion, which should the idea contained therein be put into execution would be of great benefit to the merchants and traveling public of this city.

The Illinois Central owns the vacant block on First street between Broadway and Court. In its present condition the block is worthless to the I. C. and an eyesore to the people of the city. It is, however, a most valuable piece of property and one that could be utilized by the railroad company to great advantage. That block is the logical site for a downtown passenger and freight depot combined. It is said in politics that the "logical" candidate is never nominated, but we hope that it will not follow that the logical site is not selected.

Located as the block is at the foot of Broadway, a passenger depot there would be at the terminus of all the various lines of our street car system. For this reason and because of its location right at the business center almost of the city, it is by far the most convenient location for a passenger depot that could be found in the city. The ideal arrangement would be for connection to be made between the I. C. and the N. C. & St. L. by extending the river front spur, and then have an actual "union" depot at the foot of Broadway. Such an arrangement as this would be of immense advantage to the traveling public.

The location of a passenger depot at the foot of Broadway would be mostly a matter of convenience. But in regard to a freight depot, it would result in a vast financial saving to the business men. A freight depot there would be within two squares of several of the largest wholesale houses in the city, within four squares of all the other wholesale houses and of nearly all the large retail houses. It would be difficult to estimate the great saving that would result to the merchants, both wholesale and retail, if the hauling of freight to and from the depot were shortened to four squares or less in each.

In the large cities the tendency of the railroads is so to improve their terminal facilities that their depots shall be as near as possible to the business center of the city. We believe that the following of that custom in this city would not only be a great convenience and saving to the business men of Paducah, but would, after a time prove to be a profitable move for the railroad as well.

The Peacock at Home.
The real home of the peacock or peafowl is in India. There they were and are hunted, and their flesh is used for food. As these birds live in the same region as the tiger, peacock hunting is a very dangerous sport. The long train of the peacock is not its tail, as many suppose, but is composed of feathers which grow out just above the tail, and are called the tail coverts. Peacocks have been known for many hundreds of years. They are mentioned in the Bible; Job mentions them, and they are mentioned, too, in I Kings, 10. Hundreds of years ago, in Rome, many thousands of peacocks were killed for the great feasts which the emperor made. The legend of the peacock was considered a great treat, and many had to be killed for a single feast.—Golden Days.

ECONOMY AT THE TROTTER.

Running a locomotive on a scant supply of water.
"Say," said the old engineer, "where did you get a hold of all those stories of the I. W. O. O. F.?" That was the name of the engine, and it was a little old-timey, but it was a good one. "Well, I'll tell you," said the old engineer, "I was a party fair runner, but he belonged to the time when there was two kinds of engines—those who could run, but didn't know much about the machine, and those who could take one apart and put her together again, but couldn't pull a milk train on time. It's different now, an' every runner has got to know something about his machine."
"Well, as I was a-tellin' ye, Levi could run, all right. He'd make time with any sort of old machine, but he was a few chips shy on the mechanical part of it. It uster be said that once when he was stalled in a snowstorm down about the Oswego country hills an' run short of water, he tried to fill the boiler by shovellin' snow down her smokestack."
"Levi got kinder old an' he put him to runnin' the Rose accommodation. That was a train that uster consist of one combination car, and it ran from Rose into Oswego in the mornin' to pick up what early passenger traffic there was."
"They put an old engine, No. 7, on her that was built way back in the 60's. She had been fixed over, but her boiler was loose, an' she was light, an' it was all she could do to pull th' one car. She had an old-fashioned injector that you had to shut off from the runnin' board, but alongside her steam dome, which, bein' she was an old-timer, was just behind her smokestack."
"Well, the master mechanic gets a fit on one day, and he gets out an order that we must all be economical in our running expenses. Old Levi studied over it and concluded that he could."
"So, one mornin', when they was a-startin' out of Rose, his fireman, who was poor Martin Slattery, noticed that the water was a bit low, an' says so to Levi. 'Well,' he says, 'there's no gettin' enough water to get over the grade.'"
"Gracie he heaved," says Levi, "we've got ter be economical." An' along he goes, till he gets up purty near to the top of the grade, an' then he turns on the water, runs a little higher, an' then tells Martin to go out an' shut her off, which Martin does.
"An' just as he was gettin' back through the front window of the cab that old boiler just ripped open at the bottom an' rolled off ter one side. Blew up, an' when Levi an' Martin realized what had happened, there they was, sittin' on the coal in the tender, an' lookin' foolish, while the old engine was slidin' down grade with her tubes bare, for all the world like one of these pictures in the back part of the dictionary."
"Well, they stopped her, an' then they took stock. The smokestack had been thrown away over in the cornfield, the headlight was stickin' up in a tree, an' there wasn't enough glass left in the cab to scrape a drumstick smooth. "They never found the bell, and the boys say that once in awhile when they run past there they can hear the ghost of the bell of No. 7 ringin'. But I guess some farmer got a good bell for nothin'."—Detroit Journal.

LOCOMOTIVE A SUCCESS.

Makes Fast Time on a Trial Under Unfavorable Circumstances.
The Holman friction-gear locomotive was tried successfully the other day under unfavorable circumstances. The trial was on the tracks of the South Jersey railroad. The weight of the rails was 70 pounds, and the ballasted roadbed was poor where the run was made. The locomotive, in charge of Engineer McLain and William J. Holman, Jr., the son of the inventor, with four coaches, started from Winslow Junction for Cape May, a distance of 50 to 60 miles. The distance was covered in 55 minutes. In this run several spurts were made, and for a distance of two miles at one place the passengers claim that a speed of 104 miles an hour was reached.
The engine, which weighs 72 tons, made two trials over a measured mile of track, starting three miles north of the mile. It went over the measured mile in the first trial in 44.3 seconds and in the second trial in 42 seconds. Unfortunately for the exhibitors, there were two curves in the track on which the start was made and one at the other end of the measured mile, which caused a loss of at least two or three seconds.
This is the locomotive whose four drivers are set on two small wheels, and these in turn upon three others, which rest upon the track. They are all propelled by friction and not by cog.

BRIDGE FOOLS A FARMER.

Granger's interesting experience with Van Buren Street bridge.
D. M. Whitman, farmer, of Wellington, Ill., had read much of the ways and tricks of Chicago's sharpers, and when he has been in the city has always kept a wary eye out for them. But the other day he tripped up in more senses than one, and this was the way of it.
Walking toward the Van Buren Street bridge, which is not as other bridges are, but opens on the bascule or jack-knife principle. Mr. Whitman had reached the center of the structure, when he felt it tremble beneath him. The bridge slowly rose to an almost vertical position, and Farmer Whitman slid to the bottom of the structure, landing in a sitting posture on the hard, unpadding cement of Van Buren street. While he was sliding down the incline he was making up his mind how to meet the robbers that he felt sure were waiting somewhere near the bottom. Had he not read of those wonderful trapdoors in the dives of New York and of the chutes by which the victim was gently sent into the midst of a gang of desperadoes? Whitman called "Police, police," in his terror of the engine of robbery that he supposed the bridge to be.
Officer O'Donnell, of the Desplains street station, came to his rescue, and at first Whitman thought the blueshirt a part of the robber gang. He had read that usually after the bunks have been worked an imitation policeman appears. O'Donnell reassured him, and the farmer was most pleased to find that the jackknife bridge was a great and beneficial municipal improvement.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

A national league meeting, just concluded in Philadelphia, determined several important features of next year's baseball games which will be read with interest with hibernating "fans" in Paducah.

The double umpire system was adopted, it was decided that a regular schedule for umpires should be prepared, provision was made for the suppression of rowdiness on the ball field, and it was decided to have four trips between the sections instead of two as heretofore.

It appears that erstwhile umpires, while they may have been above reproach, were not above suspicion, as the schedule of games assigned to the umpires is kept a closely guarded secret throughout the season, the club owners, magnates or players not to know at any time the order in which the several umpires shall be sent to the different towns. No umpire is to be scheduled for more than six consecutive games at one place. The President was instructed to give preference in the appointment of umpires to ex-League players with good reputations.

But the most interesting feature of the meeting was the obvious spirit to elevate the National game.

The resolution adopted with reference to raising the standard of behavior of players on the ball field had for its special object the suppression of vulgar remarks during the game. As a punishment for foul, indecent or obscene language on the field, the league has decided on hopeless and perpetual expulsion of the offending member.

It is more than probable, however, that even this stringent resolve can not curb the profane propensities of the average baseball player, and soon the great National League may find that all its brightest stars have been plucked from the various constellations of players—but then what a good opening there would be for some of the ball players from the theological seminaries!

Reelfoot Lake, a famous and popular paradise for hunters and anglers, is now the subject of much discussion in the country papers adjacent to the resort below Union City, Tenn. It was announced several weeks ago that the lake had been bought by a syndicate, and since then the little papers alluded to above have been exhausting a great deal of space not filled with that usual auxiliary, plate matter, in useless details.

The following, from yesterday's Courier, points out their error:

"The Reelfoot Outing club at its last meeting in the board of trade building, held Thursday, elected Mr. Chas. T. Ballard vice president. They also adjourned by-laws and adjourned for the season. They will do nothing toward improving the property this year. Next year, however, they will build a club house, and have everything in readiness for the hunting and fishing season. Since the lake was purchased by many of those who own property surrounding the lake have been claiming rights in the lake, and on those grounds have been trying to force themselves into the syndicate. The club, however, is positive of its title and will not be coerced."

Dr. James Lang, Mayor-elect, and President of the Board of Education, while Mayor of Paducah, will nevertheless attend all the meetings of the school board. He will do this for two reasons. First, because the Board, by resolution at its last meeting, extended the Mayor an urgent invitation to attend every meeting as a guest of honor, and second, because he has been an earnest exponent of education for so long a time, and he has been identified with the Board of Education for so many years, he wouldn't feel that there was any pleasure left in life if he couldn't attend the board meetings just as usual.

When Dr. Lang tendered his resignation as President of the Board at its last meeting, he treated the other members to a surprise, for they were not anticipating such action on part of the President. But flush in the fulsome felicity of victory in the Mayoralty, he had prepared, mentally, a very eloquent speech; but he stumbled and stopped in the middle of it. Dr. Brooks, with customary tact, came to the rescue, whoever, and answered that he regretted very much, as they had spoiled one good druggist by making a Mayor of him, that it remained their unpleasant duty to ruin another good druggist by the same process. After the other members had expressed their regrets, Capt. J. R. Smith, the genial republican member from the third ward, arose and pleaded not guilty, explaining good humoredly that although his democratic colleague claimed they were so sorry Dr. Lang was to leave the school board, they had nevertheless helped put him out by electing him Mayor, and in which he was not implicated himself. The Doctor's resignation was then rejected until the latter part of the month, and a resolution was recorded asking him as an special favor to attend all the meetings just the same after he is Mayor as he now does as President of the Board.

Conductor James B. Franklin, of the Pullman sleepers that daily run through the city on the Illinois Central R. R. will pay an up-town visit to Paducah Wednesday that is significant because it will be his first in twenty-five years, although regularly for six years past he has been in Paducah every other day. His run is between Louisville and Fulton, and during the six years he has been coming to Paducah he has seen only that portion of the city adjacent to the Union Depot, and along the line of the railroad. This is only because he never had time to see more of the city.

Twenty-five years ago he was second clerk on the big low-pressure boat "Richmond," which ran between Louisville and New Orleans, and of which Capt. J. H. Johnson, our ex-Mayor, was a half-owner, and Capt. St. Neal captain. Conductor Franklin then spent a great deal of his time here. But although he has almost daily for the past six years, passed over Broadway, he has not in twenty-five years put his foot upon the street.

Needless to say he is very anxious to pay a visit up-town, and it is more than likely that he will see few things that he saw twenty-five years ago. He is summoned as a witness in the United States court in the case of the administrators of Eades and Holfeld, the two men who were struck and killed near their home, Prysburg, while returning from Mayfield in a buggy a few months ago, against the I. C. railroad.

The principal offering to a reading public, in yesterday's Register, was another one of those idiotic sewerage articles that have characterized this paper since the system was begun some time ago.

A person who is unfamiliar with the facts in the case, to venture into a perusal of the latest drizzling conceit, would be constrained to conclude that Paducah is in the hands of an octopus that is daily tightening its tentacles around the helpless municipality; or that, to be plain, a worthless sewerage system were being forced on the taxpayers of Paducah. The effect of such an impression can surely do the city no good—but such articles may only be this paper's little way of standing up for the interests of the city!

The people who know the truth, however, can see in these periodic outbreaks of mental derangement only the greatest ignorance and most impenetrable prejudice.

If a man were fool enough to believe it, he would be led into thinking that a sewerage system was never built before, and that the one here is being put in simply as an experiment. Just read!

"The city will certainly have a difficult time in securing martyrs to crawl through the pipes for the purpose of removing the obstructions. The deadly sewer gas would soon obstruct the system with human bodies."

Comment on the above is unnecessary, as it is evident that it is mere ignorant speculation.

But here is the key to the authorship of the article:

"Some of those interested in the contract assert that the grade is too low and cite as proof the fact that the water does not run out." It has been suspected all along that there was method in somebody's madness, and that "some of those interested in the contract" had an axe of some sort to grind, and were using the Register as a grind-stone, and now the Register lets the cat out of the bag by frankly admitting it. But whether the idiotic misrepresentation resulted from drinks inhibited with "some of those interested in the contract," or merely from innate ignorance or something else, is a matter left to conjecture. It might be suggested, however, that if "some of those interested in the contract" paid more attention to the contract, and spent less time in inspiring newspaper articles that injure the town, maybe the contractor wouldn't have been paying 70 cents a load for gravel to repair the streets on which dirt and gravel previously dug out to lay the pipes was prematurely sold at 10 cents a load.

Yesterday's Visitor, in announcing federal court for this week, gave the docket completely with the exception of the $50,000 damage suit against the city for the biggest case on the docket. Perhaps the Visitor has not yet discovered there is such a suit. It is told, however, that interested persons have been down to Milan to effect a compromise, if possible, with the plaintiff, Mr. E. M. Brown.

A well known policeman was the victim of an amusing practical joke one night last week. He called forth one evening to his beat adorned with a fresh hair-cut, accompanied by a limberger sandwich or two in his lunch basket.

To his partner in arms belongs the credit of conceiving the joke. Early in the evening, as they were leisurely patrolling their beat, the last named excused himself a moment, stepped up to a telephone in a neighboring store and rang up Dispatcher Billy Hills at the N. C. & St. L. He apprised the latter of the fact that his partner had limberger cheese in his basket, a new hair cut, and that they would eat lunch at a certain place at midnight. This hint was sufficient.

At the appointed time the two officers went to a coal office on their beat, a key to which they always carry, and partook of their collation. About the time they finished, the telephone rang, and the minion of the short haired adornment and limberger interior, stepped up to answer it.

"Hello!" began the dispatcher.

"Hello!" replied the officer, "how ah you today, Pilly?"

"This ain't today, it is tonight," retorted Billy. "Say, where did you get that hair cut? Looks like somebody mistook the top of your head for a front yard and run the lawn mower over it."

"Is that so?" smiled the officer, as he involuntarily pulled his hat closer over his head. "Say, Albu, how to you reckon he seen my head?" he turned to inquire of the other officer.

"Say, man, for goodness sake get further back from the 'phone," were the next words the officer heard, "you must have been eating limberger cheese, now weren't you?"

"Yes, I was," faltered the policeman, as he moved further back and mopped the color perspiration from his forehead.

"Goodbye," he finally shouted as he abruptly hung up the telephone and turned to his partner.

"Say, Albu," he remarked, "I never will eat any more off that limberger cheese, never! I must pe away if Pilly Hills can smell it!"

The man who writes "One Thing and Another"—principally one thing—in the Sunday Visitor, got off one story yesterday that was "old in this column six months ago."

The only thing that can be objected to in the Visitor man's narrative, however, is his oversight in leaving out the point. A story in the Visitor without a point, though, is a very frequent thing.

The story question was about Marshall Collins' election celebration thirty years ago. Judge Bloomfield and Judge Sanders were for city judge, and Marshall Collins, who was then a halcyon days was all wool and a yard wide, warranted not to "fade" for less than 25 cents—for Judge Bloomfield. He was often a visitor to the police court and always paid his fines promptly; Judge Bloomfield was elected, and so happy was Mr. Collins that he proceeded to celebrate. The following day Judge Bloomfield took his seat and the first name on the docket was that of "Jim Collins, disorderly conduct."

"Guilty," yelled the culprit with customary alacrity.

The new judge peered over his glasses, thought a moment and remarked "$50 and costs!"

This came as a sad disenchantment to the offender, who, after working for Judge Bloomfield, was the first to receive a dose of justice. "H—!" he shouted when he heard the amount of the fine. "Give me Judge Sanders back!"

The little son of Mrs. Signor Bell is very ill.

Mr. Duke Johnson, one of the railroad boys, who has been in the city for a week or two, returned to work yesterday, having been transferred to the east end division of the Illinois Central.

We extend our sympathy to Mr. Ned Pullens in his sorrow of the loss of his beloved wife, Mrs. Hassie Pullens, who died yesterday morning at 4 o'clock.

The base ball teams of the National League will have two umpires next season for each game, and any player found guilty of using obscene language on the field will be expelled forever. Four trips east and west will be made of each team, according to the schedule. This marvelous news develops the fact that all who expect to play in the league next season must refrain from swearing.

What do the young men who swear think of this? If a man, when playing base ball and is on the losing side, and strikes out when the score stand 9 to 0 in the last inning, can keep from using some hot form of speech not laid down in the bible, what must be said of the young men and old who make a practice of swearing anywhere at any time? Do you see the point?

Thirty-five men killed themselves from the effects of gambling at Monte Carlo in the last year, ending the last of October.

Mrs. Puckett, of West Burnett street, has been on the sick list, but is improving.

We must not overlook the fact that the mass of us are to live by the work of our hands.

Mrs. Ada Thompson, of North Seventh street, has been on the sick list for a few days, but is improving. No race can prosper until it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem.

The old-fashion family fireside is fast becoming unknown. Even the old-fashion habit of reading aloud is quite unknown to up-to-date house-holds. Not many years ago newspapers were read and discussed in the family circle, while now "everybody for himself" seems to be the motto. Each glances over the paper or book for himself and is content.

Father goes to the lodge, club or to sleep after a day's business cares and troubles; mother attends meetings of the gossipy club, and the children are left to themselves. They either become members of innumerable clubs under these conditions or run the streets for amusement.

In a home where each member cares only for the enjoyment of himself or herself there can be no real home feeling. There is no attraction for the young folk in such a home, for they seek divided in every respect. The next thing that naturally follows is that the young people will look for amusements outside of home. Whether this will be harmful or innocent is a matter of conjecture with the odds in favor of the former. Let the mother and father ponder over this thought. Let us light the flames at our own fireside again, and bring into pleasant and congenial intimacy with ourselves the children that God has given us; because they are to be the men and women of a future day; and because, figuratively, upon the children of today depends the welfare of world to-morrow.

It has been said that the greatest injury slavery did to the negro, was to deprive him of executive power, that sense of self-dependency that has been the glory of the Anglo-Saxon race.

HARBOUR'S

The Birthplace of Low Prices

Here's a store filled with fresh reliable merchandise, bought to fit your needs to your entire satisfaction. Not a trashy makeshift in the stock. The goods were bought right, and you can depend upon it—will be sold right. We're making dry goods history by selling reliable goods at honest low prices. There's many a helpful hint awaiting you here now.

Choice Dress Goods.

Thirty-six inch wide all wool, in beautiful new combinations—35c is their regular value—you can have them for only 25c a yard this week.

Thirty-six inch all-wool dress flannels in a desirable color, shades, bring 40c; come and get them for only 30c a yard. The price may be higher later.

Fifty-two inch ladies' cloths at 50c and broadcloths for 50c that are very much below value—that merit your early inspection.

Black dress goods at prices astoundingly low. Come finger and price them.

Jackets—Capes.

Rare novelties and great values await you in our cloak room. A great line of handsome new jackets expected this week. To miss seeing our garments before you buy is to miss seeing the correct thing. No store will match the perfect fit, the superb quality and up-to-date style we give you for our prices. It's not talk, but facts. Come and figure with us.

New Ideas in Millinery.

The greatest values you ever saw are to be had here. The most elegant up-to-date effects—real bargains of interest in well styles. Others can't equal the styles, and fall flat on the price. A great sale of high-class stuff, hats and bonnets made to order on short notice. Klondike and cowboy hats and felt and cloth sailors in all colors are being received from day to day, and prices made that will please you. Why pay $1.00 on Broadway for our 40c cowboy hat?

Great Sale of Hosiery.

Men's gray mixed socks, two pairs for 25c, worth double.

Men's mixed cotton socks, four pairs for 50c, sold every where at three pairs for that price.

Women's Hermsdorf hose, double heels and toes, a good 20c value, our price 12 1/2c.

If you want the best made for a quarter, in quality and dye, it will be found here—THE ONYX.

Shoes and Boots.

Why pay more for inferior quality? If we are not in position to save you money on shoes there's none in Paducah so situated. It will pay judges to look here before buying elsewhere. We guarantee that you'll not lose money.

EN ROUTE TO SHILOH.

Distinguished Illinoisans Pass Through Paducah.

Many Eminent Men in the Party—Two Couples on Their Honey-Moon.

The party of distinguished men of Illinois appointed by Governor Tanner to locate the positions of the Illinois troops at the battle of Shiloh, preparatory to erecting monuments on the sites, passed through the city late Saturday afternoon. They arrived on the St. Louis train and left for Shiloh on the steamer Tennessee, accompanied by Major J. H. Ashcraft, of the city. Those in the party were:

Col. C. Cadle, Iowa; Capt. Runsey, Chicago; F. Slattery, Oregon; Col. Isaac Yanis, Cherry Valley, Mass.; David Revel, Chicago; George Mason, Major Cluett, Gus A. Brusse, Chicago; E. M. Willis, E. McAllister, Joliet; Capt. Isaac Clements, Carbondale; Hon. B. Wood, Edgingham; Col. J. B. Nulton, Florida; Thomas W. Weisner, Rock Ridge; A. F. McEwin, Leitchfield; John McKenzie and Col. A. T. Galbraith, Florida, Ill.

Capt. E. Swift, of the United States army, represents Gov. Tanner, who was detained by business. Maj. J. A. McClelland, of Springfield, is president of the commission. Capt. Ed Farley and Maj. J. H. Ashcraft, of the city, escorted the party about the city. In the crowd were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Upham, of Chicago, who were married yesterday at Carbondale while awaiting the train.

The Chattanooga and Chickamauga battlefield commission, consisting of Gen. Boynton, president; Major Frank P. Smith, Gen. A. P. Stewart (Confederate) and Col. Duffield, of Michigan. The dedication of the Pennsylvania monuments will take place Monday at Chickamauga, and Wednesday they will depart for Shiloh to visit the members of the Shiloh national committee and look over the field where they all served.

Col. Cornelius Cadle, of Cincinnati, chairman of the national committee, who is stationed at Shiloh, joined the commission here and accompanied them up the river. At present he is living in a tent at Shiloh.

It is the intention of the Illinois commission to select the different positions for the monuments to be erected. The order for the monuments will be executed at the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet. After

EMERGENCY USES.

Some Handy Articles to Have About the House.

There is nothing more comforting in a household than to have a self-contained, helpful man or woman who understands what to do, and goes ahead administering relief in case of sudden illness or in an emergency.

Having been reared in a large family, and my father being a physician, I have had a number of experiences, and perhaps some of them may be useful to mothers with young children.

One simple medical remedy that the father set great store to was borax. He had my mother keep a solution of salt water and borax constantly on hand, and if the slightest irritation or sore throat developed among us he had us gargle three times a day, and have our mouths and tonsils freely.

He thought our good health and freedom from fevers and contagious diseases was owing to the use of borax.

In the case of a burn, he had us wet cloths, dipped into a strong solution of borax water, and was very careful to exclude the air in putting them off and on. It is very cooling and healing, and a child does not rebel so much against it as with other remedies. One very great thing in its favor in using it among children is, it is so harmless, while other gargles, with carbolic acid and such, are often taken by mistake, and cause great distress. I often think of every young mother who knew of its virtues she would be thankful, and have it once adopted it, would never give it up. As a disinfectant it is excellent. One should keep it on the kitchen shelf. If you awaken in the night coughing and cannot stop, get a small portion of powdered borax, and place on your tongue, and let it slowly dissolve, and you will almost instantly stop the cough, as it will also relieve an ulcer in the throat.

There are a few simple remedies that are invaluable. Witch hazel is one of them. I know of nothing so helpful to a tired brain as to bathe the feet and forehead, and apply a cloth wet with it at the back of the neck. It will soothe and restore you like magic.

In emergencies such things are harmless, and yet wonderfully healing. In case of sudden pains in the lungs or side, and colds, I think mustard is about the best medicine. It burns quickly, and gets you warmed up, and relieves the terrible pain. I keep mustard leaves, borax and witch hazel where I can lay my hands upon them in a minute in the darkest night. I have been with young mothers on several occasions, where they were helpless and knew nothing whatever of medical remedies, and my sympathy for them and the little sufferer was roused, and it made me learn what was helpful.—N. "THE HEART OF CHICAGO."

Lincoln J. Carter's New Production Thursday Night.

"The Heart of Chicago," Lincoln J. Carter's newest play is being given a big scenic production and in this respect he is said to have surpassed all other previous efforts. A realistic representation of a section of the Great Chicago Fire; the Masonic Temple Roof Garden at night; a monster panoramic view of the downtown South Side district at the present day; the Court of Honor at the World's Fair Grounds during a night illumination and an absolutely new Railroad effect are among the scenic sensations promised.

Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 15 and 16.

Mr. L. W. Huebschman representing A. W. and J. Sampliner, Cloak Manufacturers, of Cleveland Ohio, will exhibit his entire line of samples in Ladies, Misses and children's Jackets and Capes at our store, 323 Broadway, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 15, and 16. We respectfully invite the public to attend this opening and secure your fall wraps at low prices. ELY, DUPEL & WHITE.
